When Stash and I set up the PBSK partnership in 2010, our intention was to create projects in Norfolk. Three years later, working with Peter Beck & Rebecca Chapman, we have created a Festival that grows at a remarkable pace, thanks to the support and encouragement from so many people and local companies.

This year we have created new and increased partnerships with the Theatre Royal Norwich, The Bonfire Group, BBC Radio Norfolk, Jarrold, Chivers Trust, Booja-Booja (Norfolk producers of truffles and desserts), Norfolk Community Fund, The Garage, UEA, and The Narthex at the Catholic Cathedral.

We welcome our new patrons Bernard Hill and Caroline Jarrold. We are grateful as always to our sponsors, our wonderful volunteers, and to you for your enjoyment and support. See you in the fall for this year's festival, half term, 2013.

Peter Barrow, Executive Producer of the PBSK Partnership

HOSTRY FESTIVAL LAUNCH NIGHT

Join the team of over 100 volunteers and supporters that makes this Festival of Norfolk happen. It will be an informal evening of introduction to all the events, the official launch of our promotional short film and will include a welcome glass of champagne.

Meet our patrons and sponsors, see the set designs, costumes and make-up artists, pick up publicity packs, talk with performers from the last 3 years of Hostrory Festival productions, and see if "getting involved" is something that may be of interest to you personally. We look forward to seeing you.

For those of you who supported us last year, you'll know just what an original and creative festival we had, full of specially commissioned work all hand-made in Norfolk. This year we have increased our offer from 12 to 22 projects, with other key venues hosting our new Festival Satellite Events, and a brochure boasting 40 pages of home grown talent for you to enjoy.

The Norfolk Arts Awards returns, after a really exciting inauguration in 2012. Fourteen awards are up for grabs, including the chance for you to vote for your favourite project or artist from Norfolk in The Eastern Daily Press People's Choice Award.

As you see from the winning entry to our front cover competition, visual arts play a key role throughout this brochure and the festival, with the launch of our new major exhibition My Norfolk on display throughout the two week period.

Our main house play this year is Ibsen's A Doll's House, directed and designed by Peter Beck. We have assembled a superb cast for this stunning play, as relevant today as when it was first written. One of the highlights from 2012 was Total Ensemble Theatre Company. They're back with breathtaking original work of inclusive theatre, in four parts, including a full day's workshop for you to share in.

Norfolk Authors In Profile is programmed for us by our supporters Jarrold, with a host of high profile writers live on stage. And speaking of live, we are delighted that BBC Radio Norfolk will be broadcasting a Festival Special, direct from The Hostrory building on 31st October, 12pm to 4pm.

We have three classical concerts for you, including for the first time, Chamber Orchestra Anglia. Singer-songwriters of amazing calibre are celebrated in our new House Concert; and what major festival like this would be complete without two great partying events from Sevenwolves and the legendary Bo Nanafana.

So much for you to see, so much for us to share. See you at our launch on September 2nd and for the festival, 24th October – 3rd November 2013.

Celebrating visual arts at The Hostry Festival 2013

For the first time the Hostry Festival is featuring a major new visual arts exhibition entitled My Norfolk. The works on the following pages will be both on display and for sale during the full 11 days and nights of the festival, from 9.30am to 4pm and at all performances.

The 12 finalists chosen by our curating team have been selected from the many entries responding to articles & features in The Eastern Daily Press and on BBC Radio Norfolk, as well as to the flyers circulated around the county. What you will see is a series of artists' impressions of what Norfolk means to them, as expressed through the visual arts.

Following the tremendous success and excitement of last year's inaugural event, The Norfolk Arts Awards return for 2013, with more opportunities to celebrate the county's rich artistic landscape. Join us for an exciting evening among friends and colleagues as we highlight the work of artists and venues who have been nominated for one of the coveted arts awards.

New awards for this year include The Theatre Education Award sponsored by The Theatre Royal Norwich, the Sevenwolves Fashion & Costume Design Award and The Dance and Musical Theatre Award sponsored by Porselli Dancewear.

The Norfolk Arts Awards will include presentations by Peter Wilson from the Theatre Royal Norwich, Caroline Jarrold from The John Jarrold Trust, Mari Martin – Head of Arts and Events at Norfolk County Council, and BBC Radio Norfolk's Helen McDermott and Wally Webb.

"A super evening and I am extremely grateful to be nominated, let alone receive the award. I still can't believe it!"

Chamber Orchestra Anglia

Classical Concert & Film

Conducted by Sharon Andrea Choa

With introduction by Jane Jarvis

The Hostry Festival is pleased to welcome Chamber Orchestra Anglia and Norwich HEART's Digital Heritage Project in collaboration with the UEA, presenting an evening of classical music and regional archive film.

Following a sell-out performance at the Guildhall in Norwich last year, this is the second collaboration between Chamber Orchestra Anglia and Norwich HEART's Digital Heritage Project. This performance will focus on the years surrounding World War II – to reveal the civilian lives of those residing in Norfolk as well as their counterparts in Upper Normandy, during enemy occupation.

Jane Jarvis, project manager of Digital Heritage, will introduce six short films, all accompanied by music in order to bring out the emotional essence of the stories shown on screen.

The programme will include music by both English and French composers, to be performed and conducted by nine members of Chamber Orchestra Anglia. This is the tenth concert in the 'Norwich 12' series that has seen performances in the iconic heritage buildings of Norwich and it is with real pride that The Hostry Festival is hosting this prestigious event.

“The current Chamber Orchestra of Anglia [N12] series is proving a big success. It's a pleasure to visit these unusual venues. It's also a pleasure to have regular events like this. It begins to feel like a regular part of Norwich life.”

A Doll's House

By Henrik Ibsen

English language version by Hamilton Wilson

Ibsen's justly famous play remains as fresh and challenging as when it was first widely performed to such positive acclaim and perhaps equally negative reaction.

It marked a seminal shift in the process of understanding between men and women.

Ibsen said that he was merely writing about real life as he saw it all around him, and the under-lying warmth of his intention still shines through, moving audiences and inspiring actors. The unfolding story of Nora and Torvald's release from the untruthfulness of their life together is as relevant today as when it was first written.

Starlings On The Green

By Hamilton Wilson

Directed by Robin Watson

Assistant Director Grace Church

Starring Paul Goldsmith & Lucinda Bray

To run alongside our main house play, A Doll's House, we have commissioned a new play specially written by festival assistant director Hamilton Wilson. The project can be seen at our new Platform Performance time of 6pm, starring two actors new to The Hostry Festival.

What has changed in the way that we relate to each other since Ibsen wrote A Doll's House 135 years ago that can help people see themselves more clearly, and what still needs to change?

We see the answers all around us every day: it's so normal that often we don't notice, even in the way we are ourselves. This play about a chance conversation between two people in a park doesn't sum all this up, but takes a wry observant look at some of the ways we have moved on and at some of those tricky little habits that are pretty much the same today.

The Poet's Echo

A Centenary Celebration of Benjamin Britten

With Lisa Cassidy & Georgina Whitehead

Lisa Cassidy

Georgina Whitehead

Grace Church

Paul Goldsmith

Lisa Cassidy (soprano) and Georgina Whitehead (guitar) team up to deliver an afternoon concert celebrating Benjamin Britten's Centenary. Alongside actors Paul Goldsmith and Grace Church, they will give a recital that weaves a path through poetry, voice and the mesmerizing sound of the guitar; set in the perfect surroundings of The Weston Room at The Hostry.

Lisa Cassidy – BA Hons, PG Dip (Song), PG Dip (Opera), MMus. Studied at The Royal Conservatoire of Scotland, graduating in 2008. Previously she received a Distinction for her Masters Degree at UEA. She has worked with great artists including Judith Howarth, Malcolm Martineau, Sarah Walker, Julius Drake, Christian Gerhaher and Roger Vignoles. She is a Britten-Pears Young Artist and an alumna of the Oxford Lieder Mastercourse and the Live Music Now scheme. Lisa currently performs song, oratorio, opera, baroque music and jazz all over the UK. www.lisacassidy.co.uk

Georgina Whitehead – Guitar MMus BMus (Hons) LTCL Born in Norfolk, studied at Trinity College of Music Greenwich, London where she was awarded the Silver Medal for String Studies and The Montagu Cleeve Guitar Prize. Georgina's accomplishments have included recording and filming with Emily Blunt, Bill Nighy, Miranda Richardson, Robert Lindsay and Ronnie Ancona for the BBC film 'Gideon's Daughter' written and directed by Stephen Poliakoff in 2006. www.georginawhitehead.com

It is the intimacy at the heart of Britten's songs that first drew me to them. They convey great shades of emotion and subtlety but also a wit and modernity that still has bite today.

MERIVEL – A MAN OF HIS TIME

With a cascade of lace at his neck and a laugh that can burst out of him in the midst of torment, Merivel is a uniquely brilliant creation, soulful, funny, outrageous and achingly sad. He is Everyman. His unmistakable, self-mocking voice speaks directly to us down the centuries. Rose Tremain's bestselling novels have been published in 27 countries and have won many prizes, including the Orange Prize (The Road Home and - shortlisted - The Colour), the Whitbread Novel of the Year Award (Music and Silence) and the James Tait Black Memorial Prize and Prix Femina Etranger (Sacred Country). She is also the author of award-winning short stories and TV plays. Rose Tremain lives in Norfolk and London with the biographer, Richard Holmes.

Louis de Bernières

IMAGINING ALEXANDRIA

Poetry was Louis de Bernières' first literary love and Imagining Alexandria is his debut poetry collection. Here he returns us to the vivid Mediterranean landscape of his fiction. De Bernières was introduced to Greek poetry while in Corfu in 1983, and since then he has always travelled with a book of Cavafy's poetry in his pocket. His own poems owe much to the influence of the great Alexandrian poet.

Louis de Bernières won the Commonwealth Writers' Prize for his famous novel Captain Corelli's Mandolin. Imagining Alexandria is published by Random House.

GABRIEL'S CLOCK

Hilton lives in Norwich where he works as a civil servant and magistrate. Gabriel's Clock is his debut novel. He began writing Gabriel's Clock several years ago, after the death of a close friend reminded him that life is too short not to try something new.

He writes for children aged ten to thirteen. He hopes that the book will give them a place to go where they can be themselves; the hidden village of Hobbes End, loosely based on the beautiful Norfolk village of Heydon.

Hilton chose to write for children as it gives him the freedom to be as imaginative as a child. He loves to come up with new worlds for readers to get lost in, and the enjoyment of hearing what readers have to say about those worlds when they return from the adventure.

Andrew Cowan

WORTHLESS MEN

Weaving together multiple viewpoints, Andrew Cowan creates a panoramic, extraordinarily vivid portrait of a place as individual as it is archetypal. Here is a community where the war permeates high and low; where the factory now produces barbed wire, the women are doing the men's jobs, and the young men are no longer so eager to answer the King's call. And here is the tragic story of a casual betrayal, and a boy who proved that those at the bottom of the heap - the worthless ones - could be the most valiant of them all.

Andrew Cowan was educated at the University of East Anglia. Pig, his first novel (published in 1996), was longlisted for the Booker, shortlisted for five other literary awards and won the Sunday Times Young Writer of the Year Award, the Authors' Club First Novel Award and a Scottish Council Book Award. He is also the author of the writing guidebook The Art Of Writing Fiction and four other novels. Andrew Cowan is the Director of the Creative Writing programme at UEA.

House Concert

To conclude this year's events, we present a 'House Concert style' evening, which also launches the first Norwich House Concert Festival.

A House Concert is a special way to experience music. Held in a room in someone's home, there is no stage to separate audience and performer, no fancy lights or big PA. House Concerts are relaxed and informal, and a chance for real connection between people, where boundaries between performer and audience drop away as everyone present enters into the unique listening together.

The surroundings of the House Concert, with minimal PA and a relaxed cosy atmosphere, will be created in The Hostry venue.

Performers for the evening are a selection of some of the headliners from the House Concert Festival and have been chosen for their ability to be open and connect with an audience.

Celeste Lovick opens the evening with an introduction to house concerts and shares a few of her new songs on voice and guitar.

"Fine musicianship and vocals and that magical connection with the audience that is so important"

Rebecca Maze

Rebecca sings about the potential of the human spirit, among other things. Her inspiring song "The Lights" was featured in the Transition Movement's film, In Transition 2.0. She's appeared on BBC4, BBC6 Music and BBC Radio 2.

Compassionate, witty and transcendent, Rebecca creates a magical space with her presence and truly enchanting songs played on piano, guitar and harp.

"Excellent talent... something of a one-woman wonder..." – Exeter Phoenix

"With a wry wit and an affectionate, informed voice" – The Observer

www.rebeccamazecom

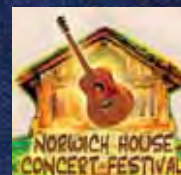

Chris Ellis & Rosie Toll

www.christopherellis.co.uk

Chris and Rosie bring an energetic set of original story songs, tunes and a selection from their recent collaboration with the TCPA in Love, Life & Liberty, which explores four centuries of radical thought about social justice and working together for the common good. With spontaneous interplay between two master musicians and an easy rapport with the audience, Rosie and Chris take you on a powerful journey with guitar, violin and voices. Gigs this year include The Hay Festival and Glastonbury Festival.

"Engages the audience and lifts the Spirit" – Reepham Festival

The Norwich House Concert Festival

Four House Concerts on location in Norfolk

House Concert 1 –

Rebecca Maze plus Rosie Toll
& Blake Harrison

This is an evening to delight the listener, with an enchanting full length set from Rebecca and a special support performance from Blake Harrison & Rosie Toll, who bring the angelic sound of the hang and the fire of the violin into a woven harmony of sound, with ever evolving loops and powerful folk inspired tunes, shifting textures and resolutions. A subtle play between the instruments creates a soundscape that is supple and sparkling, that pulls you in and takes you into the moment.

Saturday 9th November 7:30pm doors, 8pm start

Location: Subud House, 6 The Close, Norwich

House Concert 2 –

Edwina Hayes

Her beautifully written songs and charming stage presence have won Edwina a reputation as a true natural talent of gentle folk-america. She has opened shows for Jools Holland and Van Morrison and her cover of the Randy Newman song 'Feels Like Home' was featured in the film My Sister's Keeper and has since had over five million plays on YouTube.

"The sweetest voice in England. A wonderful young woman, so gifted and full of song, with a voice as sweet as the angels" – Nanci Griffith

Sunday 10th November 7:30pm doors, 8pm start

Location: Given upon booking

House Concert 3 –

James Frost & Guests

James' serene vocals, pastoral lyrics and finger-picking guitar style have drawn comparison with classic English songwriters such as Nick Drake and Leonard Cohen.

He is an established East Anglian folk artist and a recent graduate of the British Academy of New Music in London. Recent gigs include the 12 Bar Club in London, the main acoustic stage at the Secret Garden Party Festival and the annual 'Art Of Pop' showcase in Camden.

"A hugely evocative sound... reminiscent of Leonard Cohen" – Luke Hannam, Gramme

Friday 15th November 7:30pm doors, 8pm start

Location: Given upon booking

House Concert 4 –

Chris Ellis & Rosie Toll

In this special evening Chris and Rosie bring you a full length set of their lively and inspiring music (see opposite).

Saturday 16th November 7:30pm doors, 8pm start

Location: Given upon booking

The PRODUCERS PG

Starring Zero Mostel & Gene Wilder

On our final Sunday for 2013, what better way to enjoy the afternoon than by joining our Executive Producer Peter Barrow, as he introduces his favourite film of all time to our festival audience. The Producers is without doubt one of the true comedy greats, with unforgettable performances from the original Willy Wonka Gene Wilder, and screen legend Zero Mostel.

"If you've never seen this, you'll love it; if you have, you'll love it all over again. Filled with outlandish characters and preposterous humour throughout, it is the ridiculous raised to the sublime."

– Peter Barrow, Co-Founder of the Hostry Festival
