

COME WHAT MAY

Words & Music by Stash Kirkbride

Verse 1: Before you go, I have to tell you now and once again
That I've changed... for the better
Will you, won't you stay with me and find out who I am
I've become the real me
I've opened all my windows and the sun is pouring in
No need to fly away, my angel

CHORUS: I know the time has come for wise men to let go
But I can't forget the times when we shared the high and low
So I say to you, what else can I do but pray

And I wish the world for you, come what may

INSTUMENTAL

Verse 2: And as the night's drawing and I am left alone
Building up a fire that's dying
All the angels gather 'round but they no longer sing
And it seems that mine is crying
For she has known us at our best, two people so in love
No distance came between them
And I could have sworn we made our vows to live and never part
Or did we only dream them

CHOURS: I know the time has come for wise men to let go
But I can't forget the times when we shared along the way
So I say to you, what else can I do but pray, oh yeah
And I wish the world for you,
Come what may

INSTUMENTAL

I know the time has come for wise men to let go

COME WHAT MAY © 2002 Produced by Stash Kirkbride & Owen Parker .